GYPSY MOTH COMING BY AUTOMOBILE.

The Caterpillar

Female Gypsy Moth

Male Gypsy Moth

Albany, N. Y., July 24—Westward the gypsy moth takes its way. It has caused millions of dollars' worth of damage in Massachusetts, has escaped to New Hampshire and Connecticut, and now the invasion is turning toward New York State.

This interesting information is conveyed in a letter of warning just issued by E. P. Felt, state entomologist, who also asks inhabitants of the Empire state to watch for the brown tail moth in addition to the gypsy and report their appearance anywhere in the state at once.

According to Mr. Felt the gypsy moth likes to ride by automobile. In this connection he says:

"Experience has shown that automobiles are very active agents in transporting this insect, and, with their increased use in recent years, no one can foresee where the pest may appear next."

The brown tail moth is a more recent introduction, and, like the gypsy moth, flies readily. It is not only a very destructive leaf feeder, but the barbed hairs of the caterpillars cause a very severe irritation upon the unprotected skin.

Two rows of warts down the back of the gypsy moth caterpillar make it easily distinguishable. It is about two inches long and the ten anterior warts are blue, the twelve posterior red. The gypsy moth will on the slightest disturbance leap on passersby and cling to clothing.

Brown tail moths have white spots on each side and a single pair of red spots near the tail. They prefer wild cherry, pear, apple, maple, elm and white oak leaves, and have barbed horns, which, breaking off or blowing

GOVERNOR'S GUARD VETERANS' OUTING

Spent the Day on Orchard Island at Buckeye Lake on Sunday, Holding Reunion.

Columbus, July 24—Despite the fact that there was a considerable fall of rain at the time they left the city, there was a goodly number of the members of the Governor's Guard Veteran association on hand to take the cars for Licking reservoir Sunday morning for their annual outing.

While the attendance was materially interfered with, yet those present voted at the end of the day that the pleasures of the occasion compared favorably with any of those of former years and this in the face of the fact that there was a continuous fall of rain until after dinner had been disposed of.

The outing was held on Orchard Island in Buckeye Lake, at the cottage of Col. W. C. Wells, who was represented at the scene of action by his son, Mr. Charles Wells. As a host Mr. Wells voted the thanks of the assembled veterans. All the good things of the season were presented in an appetizing manner, and along with the feast was an assortment of punch bowls containing refreshing drinks of various kinds. Following the custom of the organization there was little formality observed, the day being given over to different pleasures and in renewing the ties formed when the Governor's Guard was the leading military organization of the state. Stories were told that brought back many stirring scenes, and there were men present who had had the leading parts in all of them.

It was at a late hour that the party broke up and the members returned to Columbus. As is always the custom arrangements were started for subsequent gatherings to be held a year hence. Some new features will be inaugurated, so that the memory of the organization may never cease to be a source of delight.

ALPINE MONKS PACK 16 CHILDREN IN WOOL.

Berne, July 24—Sixteen children packed in wool have arrived here with a gypsy caravan coming from Italy. The gypsies have taken six months to travel from Aosta over the Alps by way of the Simion Pass. They were stranded in the snow and when nearly full grown, are quite resistant to poison. Eggs of the gypsy moth may be destroyed by treating the egg masses with a preparation composed of fifty per cent creosote oil, twenty per cent carbolic acid, twenty per cent spirits of turpentine and ten per cent of coal tar.

POSSIBLY SO

Life would be one long sweet dream if each of us only had the other fellow's job. The merchant has a hard time—if he had his life to live over again he would certainly be a doctor. The doctor has troubles too numerous to mention—how did he ever come to go into such a wearing business anyhow? The farmer toils hard and long and worries with droughts and floods and cinch bugs—a farmer's life is a rusty hard life—he made a great mistake in not being a lawyer—lawyers don't have to kill themselves working. The lawyer grows gray with his troubles—starves for ten years as a starter, and has to fight eternally to win—he sees now that there is no place like the farm—the farmer's life is the one satisfactory, independent life. The teacher works and works and gets no credit for all he does, and not half enough pay—why in the world didn't he go into the newspaper business—the newspaper man doesn't have much to do. And the newspaper man—well, as we remarked before, life would be one long sweet dream if each of us only had the other fellow's job—Governor Hoch.

Wellman's Aerial Pole Hunt

The Intrepid Explorer's Third Attempt to Find the Earth's Axis

Plucky Journalist Who Will Sail Into the Arctic Regions on the King of Airships Is a Typical American Who Does Things—Many Safety Appliances Provided For Most Remarkable and Sensational Journey of Modern Times

If the north pole does not want to be discovered it had better go in hiding. Walter Wellman is on its trail, and if he is as good at finding out polar secrets as he is used to be at finding out political secrets he will get it. Wellman has made a try at the thing twice before but the other times he used a ship and therefore the pole could protect itself with icebergs. Now he is to take a balloon, and it will be "23—skidoo" for the bergs. It requires a temperature considerably colder than that of the arctic circle to freeze air, therefore the airship can defy the frost. The pole might as well turn state's evidence against itself, for it is bound to be found out. In a few years it will be only an American flagpole. Old Glory will wave above it. It is a poor age for mysteries, even polar ones, for science is certain to uncover them.

It is not the first time the balloon trick has been tried on the pole, but the one previous attempt was made many years ago, before the modern improvements in airships. Andree was the one who conducted that experiment, and for all any one knows to the contrary, he reached his intended destination, only he never came back to tell about it. He may have become attached to the place, as it were, so that he could not tear himself loose from the scenery. It is a rather gruesome subject, but there is no need of growing gloomy over something that cannot be helped.

Scenery Preserved on Ice.

The arctic scenery is said to be indescribably grand by the few who have looked upon it and have lived to tell the tale. It is a revel of color, of picturesque effects and of dazzling lights. It is scenery preserved on ice.

There have been many conflicting stories of Andree's end. There always are when nobody knows. One version had it that he was killed by Eskimo savages. This may be true, but most people have a suspicion that the climate had something to do with it. There is not much except climate around the north pole, and it manages to make itself very conspicuous and disagreeable.

But Andree was not an American newspaper man. That is the reason he did not come back to report the story. Wellman not only has the advantage of modern inventions, but also of Yankee pluck and journalistic training. If anybody ever finds the pole, it is safe to say that it will be an American reporter, for he is used not only to discovering things, but also to cold deals of every conceivable variety. The arctic regions will have no terrors for him.

King of Airships.

The balloon with which Wellman is to seek the pole is the king of airships, being the largest ever yet constructed. The gas bag, which is oblong in shape, is over 160 feet in length and above 50 feet in diameter. To keep this gigantic bag from losing its shape under the pressure of violent winds a balloonette is placed in the interior of it, into which will be constantly pumped several pressures of air. The basket, or chamber, attached to the outer bag is built on a steel frame, is protected from the weather and is fitted with rudders, propellers, motors and the necessary machinery for navigation of the air. In this basket Mr. Wellman and his companions will embark on the most remarkable and sensational journey of modern times.

The motors are three in number, one of five horsepower to fill the balloonette, one of twenty-five horsepower and one of fifty horsepower, the two larger ones being for the actual propulsion of the balloon.

An average speed of twelve miles per hour can be made. This on occasion can be increased to seventeen miles per hour. These speeds, of course, are reckoned on the basis of a calm. Winds would affect the velocity, adverse winds retarding and favorable ones accelerating the great ship in its flight.

If contrary winds of too great force are met a drag anchor, or retarder, will be thrown overboard, which, without making the balloon fast, will keep it from drifting too far or too rapidly from its course.

Many Safety Appliances Provided.

Many other safety appliances have been provided. An extra set of steering and propelling apparatus will be taken along in case of breakage. If one of the large motors becomes disabled the other can be put into use. In case the worst happens and the balloon for any unforeseen reason should become useless a set of sledges or sleds have been constructed and will be taken aboard the balloon. These sledges are provided with motors, or "mechanical dogs," as Wellman calls them, and with them rapid progress can be made over the ice and snow.

The balloon is so strongly constructed, however, that it seems almost impossible that any accident should befall sufficient to disable it. The one danger is a snowstorm, under the weight of which the great machine would be helpless. Fortunately polar snows in July and August, during one of which months the journey is to be made, are rare.

Enough Gasoline and Provisions Will be taken with the expedition to last a much longer time than should be required to make the journey. The pole is about 600 miles north of Spitzbergen, from which point the balloon is to be launched. At an average speed of twelve miles an hour the trip up and back should only occupy 100 hours or a little over four days. Allowing for the most adverse conditions, it is hardly conceivable that more than ten days or two weeks at most should be required for the voyage.

Leakage Reduced to Very Low Point.

The leakage from the gas bag has been reduced to the lowest possible point, and it is believed will not exceed 1 per cent a day. There is always some loss of inflating material from the best built balloons, this loss usually amounting to 2 or 3 per cent a day. The smaller leakage in the Wellman balloon will be fully balanced by the decreased weight of the gasoline and provisions aboard, as these are used up from day to day in running the motors and feeding the aeronauts.

It is intended that the airship shall sail only two or three hundred feet from the ground, or, rather, from the by lightning or have a tree fall on him even in the temperate zone.

If the balloon should tumble into the open sea a metallic boat has been taken along, which Wellman calls his "return ticket."

Before the start is made the balloon is to be subjected to the most rigid tests. Trial voyages will be made, and if the apparatus is found in any way defective it will be remodeled or, if necessary, abandoned and a new balloon constructed. Some such contingency may delay the trip for a year. If the first effort to reach the pole is not successful another trial will be made a year later, and if that fails still another attempt will result. To put it plainly, the north pole has got to come into the reservation of the known if American ingenuity, newspaper enterprise and Wellman perseverance can bring it there.

Wireless Telegraphy on Board.

One of the novelties of the Wellman expedition—and pretty much everything about it is a novelty—is that wireless telegraphy will be used in order that the daily reports of the voyagers may be flashed back to civilization. One wireless station has been established at Spitzbergen, another about 600 miles south, and the third will be on the balloon itself. Instead of this being a pole high in the air, however, it will be a rope hanging from the basket of the ship. A wireless apparatus and operator will be carried with the expedition. Thus even if the melancholy fate of Andree should overtake the daring aeronauts the world will be enriched by an account of their observations. If the pole is discovered we shall not have to wait months for the news to reach us, but it will be flashed all over the world on the very day it occurs. Great is science, and wireless telegraphy is its newest wonder.

If Walter Wellman reaches this goal, which has been the dream of ages, he will not be the first American newspaper man to have gained fame as a discoverer. Henry M. Stanley, the great African explorer, was a reporter on a New York newspaper at the time he found Livingstone.

Does Not Believe in Omens.

Wellman was born at Mentor, O., Nov. 3, 1858. The fact that he is a Buckeye is another sign that he will succeed. Besides, Mentor was the home of James A. Garfield, so that is a good place to have been born in. That is another auspicious omen. Wellman himself, by the way, does not believe in signs and omens, for he is going to start his expedition from the same island where Andree began his voyage to fame and death. The rest of us, however, may be excused for believing that a man who took his rise in Mentor, O., had a favorable point of setting out.

Mr. Wellman was educated in the district schools of Michigan. At the age of fourteen he launched a weekly newspaper at Sutton, Neb., and when twenty-one started the Cincinnati Post. He did notable work as a correspondent in the Blaine-Cleveland campaign of 1884. For over twenty years he has been one of the Washington representatives of the Chicago Record-Herald, which newspaper is financing his present undertaking.

The first voyage of discovery made by Wellman was in 1892, when on Watling island, or San Salvador, in the Bahamas, he erected a monument on the spot where Christopher Columbus made his first landing 414 years ago. Two years later Mr. Wellman started his initial arctic voyage, reaching 81 degrees north. Subsequently he was the leader of an expedition to Franz Josef Land, reaching 82 degrees north and discovering a number of new islands. He has written extensively of the arctic regions and has lectured before learned bodies in Europe and America. In appearance he is of distinguished bearing, with the keen, alert look of the modern representative of the press. His home is in Washington, where he has a family of five daughters. Altogether he is not only the writer, but the typical American who does things.

In rendering credit to those who have assisted in making the present Wellman expedition possible, J. Santos-Dumont, the celebrated French aeronaut, should not be overlooked. His advice in building the great dirigible balloon has been almost invaluable. The gas bag itself is made of two layers of cotton and one of silk. The car is suspended beneath this cigar shaped bag and is about six feet wide, six and a half feet high and fifty-two feet long. The engine room and living room, or cabin, are each about eleven and a half feet in length. In these little compartments will be enacted a new chapter in human history, for their inmates will go either to death or to a goal sought by man for centuries.

If they succeed in reaching the pole the world will regard it as the greatest discovery since that made by Columbus. Grant that the finding of the earth's axis will be a thing of no utility, what then? Since when has man been only a utilitarian? Human beings are made up not alone of pocketbooks and stomachs, but of imaginations and hearts. The world's greatest deeds have been done for sentiment. Therompires, crusades, revolutions and civil wars have been fought for sentiment. After all the commercial motive is the least of those that rule us.

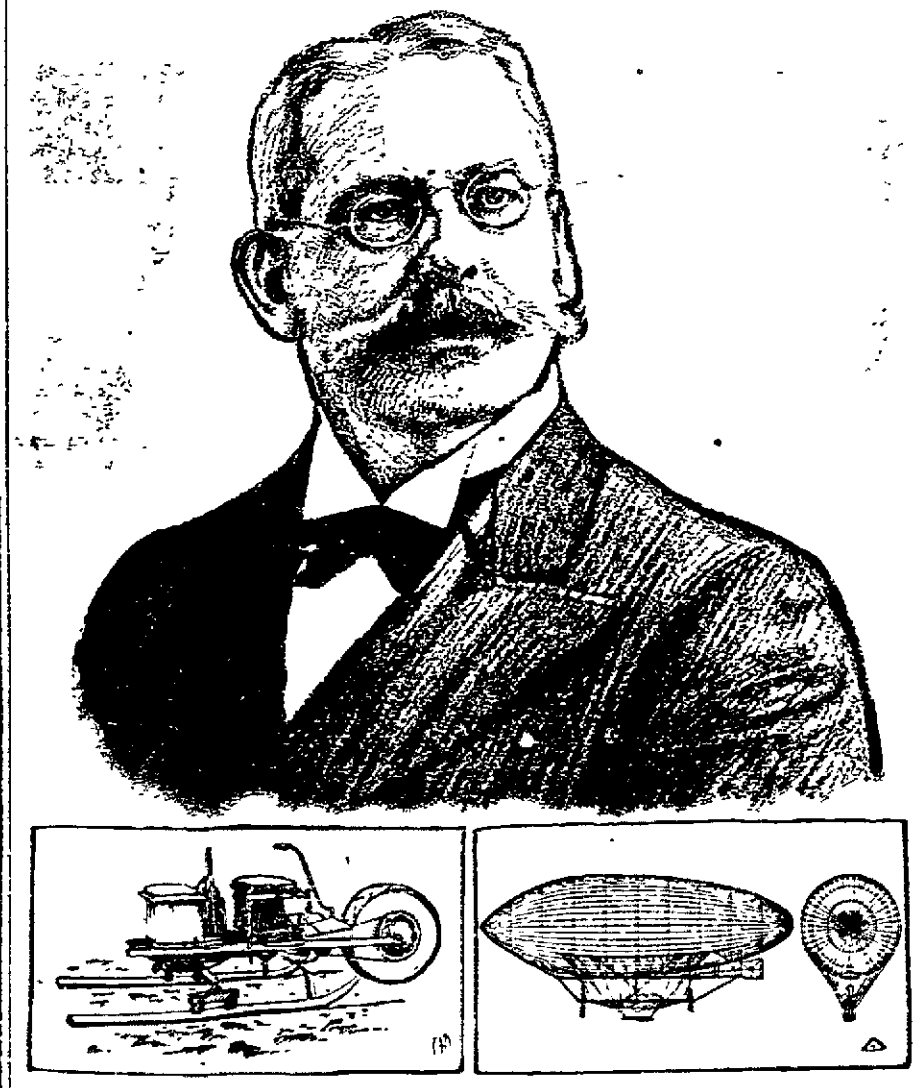

The finding of the north pole may add not one dollar to the wealth of the world, yet the discoverer will join the immortals.

Perhaps his name is Walter Wellman.

The Republican Campaign Fund Sham.

It is most significant that the proposition should be made to raise a Republican National campaign fund by soliciting contributions of one dollar from each member of the party. Apparently the Republican leaders realize that the recent revelations concerning the sources of their party's big campaign funds have made a deep impression on the public mind. Great corporations cannot be drawn upon so openly for money which belongs to their stockholders in order to elect the candidates of a party to which many of the stockholders are opposed. Of course some means of trying out the fund will be found by the high tariff advocates, but just how it is necessary to make it appear that the Republican campaign managers are going to look to the voluntary contributions of the people for financial support. In other words, the Republican campaign managers must adopt some method of pretense that will fool the people. But all the same they will continue to "try the fund" out of the corporations and trusts. This is the very reason why the Republican Congressmen refused to pass the bill prohibiting corporations from contributing political campaign funds. The corporations are expected to keep right on "financing" the campaigns for Republican candidates in all national elections, and the program of the party managers of raising funds by popular subscription is a mere sham. At the same time the corporations will see that they get value received from the Republican Congressmen for whose election they pay their money.

Where Ohio Democrats Can Stand Pat.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
At the meeting of the Democratic state central committee in Columbus the only incident of abiding significance was the adoption of a resolution declaring that the party could build no more fitting monument to ex-Governor Pattison, or better acknowledge the debt of gratitude it owes him than to adhere steadfastly to the principles he taught until they shall become crystallized in law and practice. "To deviate from the course he blazed is to blunder; to depart from it invites merited disaster."
Thus to declare is more than to discharge a pious duty; it is to lay down a practical rule of action for the party. It is a platform in itself. The party is still the minority party, in spite of last fall's victory, and that victory is not likely to be repeated unless it is frankly recognized that no mere partisan victory was won last November. That triumph was made possible only by the votes of independent Republicans who voted with one eye on John M. Pattison and the other on Theodore Roosevelt.

and conditions in Ohio are still such that the Democrats have much reason to hope for support from that quarter if they place in their next platform, generally and specifically, the above resolution of their committee and place upon that candidates whom Governor Pattison would have chosen or accepted.

In avoiding anything like the appearance of yielding to bossism the committee displayed perhaps an excess of caution, but its course, it is to be hoped, may be taken as foreshadowing the position of the coming state convention on the same question. In the Democratic convention which nominated the only successful candidate for governor in years the bosses were repudiated and the slate makers discomfited. The ticket was named by the delegates, and by delegates from the districts always the least susceptible to machine influences. There will be no boss rule at Columbus next month, and the prospect that there is to be boss rule in Dayton next September is what gives the Democrats their chief if not only hope of victory in November.

But whatever the course of their opponents the Democrats can deserve victory even though they may fail to achieve it, and can deserve it only by adopting as the essence of their platform the resolution of their state committee and heeding its warning that to do otherwise is to invite disaster. Pattison's personality will be missed, though his influence still lives, and not in his own party alone; but that party can "stand pat" on Pattison's record only by having platform and candidates up to the Pattison standard. It evidently perceives the rightness of such a course and cannot be blind to its political wisdom.

PURPORT OF THE TREATY

Agreed to by Lately Warring Governments of Central America.

FORGET PAST DIFFERENCES

Will Disarm and Disband Their Respective Forces. Deliver Up Prisoners of War, Care For the Wounded Within Their Borders, and Keep a Close Watch on All Plotters.

San Salvador, July 24.—The principal clauses of the treaty signed by the representatives of the Central American governments of Guatemala, Salvador and Honduras are as follows:

First—Salvador and Honduras return to a state of peace with Guatemala, forgetting past differences. Therefore they will concentrate their armies and disarm them within eight days from the date of the signature of the treaty, leaving only the troops previously stationed in the various garrison towns and the flying columns required for police service.

Second—The contracting governments will reciprocally deliver up the prisoners of war and take care gratuitously of the wounded in their respective territories, who are unable to return to their homes. All political prisoners will also be immediately liberated, and each delegation will recommend to its government the issuance of a decree of general amnesty so soon as possible.

Third—The high contracting parties agree to concentrate all the political refugees now in their respective territories or who may hereafter enter their respective territories, and likewise to watch their conduct so as to prevent them from abusing the right of asylum in conspiracy against the order and tranquility of the country from which they emigrated.

Fourth—Within two months from date of the signature of the treaty the contracting parties will sign a general treaty of peace, friendship and commerce, etc. The capital of Costa Rica is designated as the place for the fully authorized representatives of the three republics to meet. In the meantime it is agreed that the international stipulations heretofore binding on the contracting parties, especially those of the second pan-American conference, will remain in force.

Fifth—If, as is not predicted to be the case, any of the contracting parties fail to comply with any point agreed upon in this treaty, or cause new divergencies, these will be submitted to the arbitration, appointed beforehand, of the presidents of the United States and of Mexico, the arbiters to whose decision any new, concrete difficulties between Guatemala, Salvador and Honduras will be submitted.

The present agreement is to remain under the guarantee of the loyalty of the interested governments and the moral sanction of the mediating nations.

The ratification of the treaty to be verified by an exchange of communications at Guatemala City, San Salvador and Tegucigalpa no later than July 30.

Signed on board the United States cruiser Marblehead by Senors Pacas and Gallegos, representing Salvador; Senor F. Bertrand for Honduras; Senors Chico, Pinto, Barrios, and Cabral for Guatemala, William L. Merry (who also represented Costa Rica), Leslie Combs for the United States; Senor Gamboa for Mexico; Commander Richard T. Mulligan of the United States cruiser Marblehead.

French Exports.
Paris, July 24.—Statistics collected by the United States consulates throughout France and tabulated by Consul General Mason shows that the exports to the United States for the year ending June 30 reached the record-breaking total of $107,240,547, an increase of $18,823,473, or 17 per cent, over the previous year. All the great commercial centers except Lyons, Havre and Calais increased their shipments to the United States. The increase at Lyons is chiefly due to the development of the silk industry in the United States and a corresponding reduction in the demand for French silk.

NEW BUILDING

BEING COMPLETED

HANDSOME NEW STRUCTURE ON NORTH FOURTH STREET BEING ERECTED.

The Building Will Be Used as Theater to Be Known as The Orpheum.

The work on the Jones & Chilcote building on the site of the Perry Rank livery stable on North Fourth street, is progressing nicely and the new building will in all probability be completed within a short time. It is understood that the two business rooms on the first floor have already been engaged for occupancy as soon as they can be completed.

The property upon which the new building is being constructed is 100 feet wide with a depth of 200 feet. On the first floor the store rooms will be located, between which a long open hallway will connect with the theater in the rear. The theater will extend for 90 feet from the rear end of the property with a "fly gallery" for hanging scenery with a depth of 15 feet and extending the height of the building.

The new amusement house will be known as the Orpheum and will cater to women and children with a continuous vaudeville bill from the circuit of fifteen vaudeville houses in various cities in the central states controlled by Gus Sun the famous minstrel, who will have full control of the attractions and management of the house.

The second and third floors of the building will contain four suites of five room flats on each side of the building with others at the rear making eleven flats on each floor. The third will extend to within 90 feet of the rear of the main portion of the building.

The works of the Singer Sewing Machine company at Sonowice and Bendzin, Russian Poland, have been destroyed by bombs.

NEITHER DEBATE NOR AMENDMENT

Marked the Final Action on Address to the Russian People.

IT MAY MEAN A REVOLUTION

Tone of the Manifesto is Defiant and Strikes the Government in a Vulnerable Point by Declaring it is Responsible for the Delay in Settling the Agrarian Question.

Viborg, Finland, July 24.—Until the last moment it seemed that the desire for unanimous adoption of the manifesto would be wrecked. There were sharp differences between the constitutional Democrats and the revolutionists, the latter wishing to proclaim the house in perpetual session and abrogate the allegiance of the people, while the Constitutional Democrats favored the declaration of a pacific general strike without resort to revolutionary measures as a protest against the emperor's dissolution of parliament.

The psychological moment which changed the minds of the moderates was the arrival of Gov. Rechanberg with the curt command to disperse or take the consequences, when even the more conservative of the Constitutional Democrats, such as M. Petrajitsky and Prof. Herzenstein, who had made speeches in favor of moderation, struck hands with the Radicals and the whole assembly foreswore amendment or debate and adopted the address which follows:

"To the people from their popular representatives:

"Citizens of all Russia, parliament has been dissolved by ukase of July 21. You elected us as your representatives and instructed us to fight for our country and freedom. In execution of your instructions and our duty we drew up laws in order to ensure freedom to the people. We demanded the removal of the irresponsible ministers who were infringing the laws with impunity and oppressing freedom. First of all, however, we wanted to bring out a law respecting the distribution of land to working peasants and involving the assignment, to this end, of crown appanages, monasteries and lands belonging to the clergy, and compulsory expropriation of private estates. The government held such a law to be inadmissible, and upon parliament once more urgently putting forward its resolution regarding compulsory expropriation, parliament was dissolved.

"The government promises to convolve a new parliament seven months hence. Russia must remain without popular representation for seven whole months at a time when the people are standing on the brink of ruin and industry and commerce are undermined, when the whole country is seething with unrest, and when the ministry has definitely shown its incapacity to do justice to popular needs. For seven months the government will act arbitrarily and will fight against the popular movement in order to obtain a pliable, subservient parliament. Should it succeed, however, in completely suppressing the popular movement the government will convolve no parliament at all.

"Citizens, stand up for your trampled rights, for popular representation, and for an imperial parliament. Russia must not remain a day without popular representation. You possess the means of acquiring it. The government has, without the assent of the popular representatives, no right to collect taxes from the people nor to summon the people to military service. Therefore you are now the government. The dissolved parliament was justified in giving neither money nor soldiers. Should the government, however, contract loans in order to procure funds, such loans will be invalid without the consent of the popular representative. The Russian people will never acknowledge them and will not be called upon to pay them. Accordingly, until a popular representative parliament is summoned, do not give a kopek to the throne or a soldier to the army. Be steadfast in your refusal. No power can resist the united, inflexible will of the people.

"Citizens, in this obligatory and unavoidable struggle your representatives will be with you."

MRS. BRAUNHOLD TOOK A PART

HELD AT COLUMBUS IN THE
YEAR 1871

By Germans in the Year Following the Termination of the Franco-Prussian War.

Monday in the quaint little town of Chateauroux, near Buzonville, in Lorraine, France, at the cemetery, a touching ceremony will take place at the unveiling of a monument over the grave of the soldier Mouty, who was the first victim of the Franco-Prussian war in 1870.

The fact recalls the peace festival held by the Teutons over the United States in the year following and in which Newark and a number of her sisters took an active part. On Monday, May 1, 1871, a grand celebration was held in the city of Columbus, and of this the Ohio Sun publishes the following from the old German West-bote under the photograph of Mrs. Pauline Braunhold of this city, who took the part of Germania. Mrs. Braunhold was at that time Miss Wachenschwanz.

"Monday, the first of May will live long in the memory of the capital city of Ohio. The living pictures of the events of yesterday still smile on the city and we should gladly postpone the story of the colossal demonstration until some more propitious hour, were that only possible and if we did not know in advance that, at best, the story of so great an event as that of yesterday must necessarily be deficient.

"It was a festival, grand and sensible at the same time, and one which, according to the American inhabitants of the city, Columbus has never before experienced. It was an honor day for the whole Teutonic population—a day that caused every son of the old motherland, Germania, to feel a just pride in his ancestry and to slap himself on the chest and say: 'I am also a German!' And our American neighbors? What shall we say of them? They were also overwhelmed with the grandeur and the majesty of the demonstration and many an American house displayed for the first time the German colors. If there were any who imagined that the festival was to be a mere flirtation with lager beer they were sadly disappointed. From the firing of the first cannon, with which the festival was opened, until the very close of the demonstration, was worthy of its origin and not one discordant note was heard to disturb the gentle harmony of the celebration. The sense of art and proportion and the aesthetic taste displayed by the separate groups in the procession must have certainly overwhelmed many an American eye witness and must have convinced all that the German nation can not only hit hard, but in addition in the field of art and education it does not need to fight for a place. Many an American who, perhaps, held only a common view of us must have been taught respect for us by and through this fest.

"Even the skies were well disposed toward us. The May sun laughed heartily at it all and the weather never was and could scarcely ever be more propitious."

The writer goes on to say that President Jacob Bleis, after an address in which he laid stress upon the meaning of the peace to Germany, introduced Governor R. B. Hayes, who delivered a short speech, which was well received. Governor Hayes is quoted as having said, "There are citizens who do not enjoy the privilege of German ancestry, but these feel proud of the association with the Germans of Columbus." He also expressed the hope that France would soon reach a point where she could realize what she had gained in arriving at peace with the powerful neighbor.

This society will on September 2, celebrate the anniversary of the battle of Sedan, with suitable ceremonies.

Masonic Excursion Wednesday.

The train will arrive at Toledo at 9:30 o'clock and returning will arrive at Granville about midnight, where a special will be in waiting to bring the Newark people home. It is quite likely that a large number of Newark people will avail themselves of the opportunity to take a delightful trip on the lake. The fare for the round trip from Granville will be $1.50 and to Sugar Island or Detroit, $2. Children 75 cents to Toledo; $1 to Sugar Island or Detroit.

WORK OF OHIO PENSION AGENCY

SOMETHING ABOUT THE SYSTEM
AND THE MEN WHO DO
THE BUSINESS.

The Duties Have Developed Some Exports of Wonderful Capacity in the Work.

Vast and of far-reaching effect is the work of distributing pensions among the veterans and their widows, of the wars waged by the United States. Their is a beneficent side and a business one connected with the pensioning done by Uncle Sam. The former is the noble work of caring for the needs of those what at the time of their country's need placed their lives at the service of the nation. Some of these men became incapacitated while in service and line of duty—and others from after effects—some have been ruined physically and others financially, and these reverses have likewise caused suffering to the families of veterans.

A side of the pension question not generally given consideration is the effect in the business world of the vast sums of money distributed each quarter in every state and territory in the Union. The distribution each year of about $140,000,000 among the 975,000 pensioners in the United States means not only relief to the participants but means that much more money thrown into circulation and it makes a decrease of state expenses, because but for this help given by the federal government there would most certainly be an overcrowding of the poor houses in a number of states.

While the number now on the pension rolls is gradually decreasing from the high-water mark of 1,000,400 pensioners, yet the decrease is slow, because of the granting of pensions to the widows.

There are 18 agencies in the United States, but the two principal ones are the Ohio and Kansas agencies. Until six years ago the Ohio agency was the largest, but the tide of immigration west caused Ohio to rank second, giving the first place in size to Kansas.

The present state agency at Columbus is the result of the consolidation in July, 1877, of the agencies at Columbus, Cleveland and Cincinnati, and immediately after the consolidation the number of pensioners on its rolls was 21,000.

The Ohio agency five years ago had 105,000 pensioners on its rolls, but that number has decreased to 98,068. It distributed last year $14,262,438.96 among those on its rolls. This work was done by only 38 employees under the pension agent, and the distribution was made expeditiously and with the minimum of errors, there being no delay in the balancing of the agent's accounts with those of the pension department at Washington. This is a splendid record and especially when one recalls the immense amount of red-tape connected with the payment of a pension. It is estimated that from the time a voucher for the payment of a pension is made to the time the voucher lands in Washington that it is handled 30 times, which at each quarterly payment means the handling of something like 2,942,640 vouchers. Then there are the checks which must be stamped four times each, filled out and mailed; and the proper record made of every transaction which means a stupendous task for the 38 employees.

Each pension agency has its own business methods, there being no uniform one, strange to say. And the efficiency of the Ohio system over others is shown in several ways. It is manifested in quick payments and accuracy. Some agencies have had in a year as high as 3000 vouchers returned as defective. During the last payment at the Columbus office only forty-six were returned for minor errors. And during General A. V. Rice's administration, when $66,000,000 was disbursed in four years, there was only a discrepancy of 55 cents, which the general paid. A fact worthy of notice is that while other agencies have adding machines for computations, yet the Ohio agency with no such calculators, gets its reports in first. The last annual report being sent into Washington on July 17, when it was not due there until the 25th of the month. The calculating at the Columbus office is done by A. F. Steinmetz, who has been in the office sixteen years. Mr. Steinmetz does all the footing. He adds with lightning rapidity, adding three rows at a time, multiplying fractions as fast as one can talk and being able to say the multiplication tables to 2,000.

The excellent business system at the office is the result of a process of evolution from Joseph W. Dwyer, the first pension agent, to General W. R. Warnock, the present excellent agent. The incumbents of the office have been in order Joseph W. Dwyer, John A. Norris, General A. T. Wilcox, Captain G. H. Barker, General John G. Mitchell, General A. V. Rice, Colonel J. W. Jones and General W. R. Warnock. Of the various employees, W. H. Ponting is the efficient chief clerk and acting pension agent during General Warnock's absence, and who has done much for the success of the agency. He has been with the department since 1875 and held his present position since it was created. Harford Toland, widows' division, office 11 years and capable head of it has been in his department 11 years. A feature of the is that duty performed by a young man, who to each check sent, which means his name nearly a times every quarter doing this for seven that time signed by like 2,500,000 time patch.

We are informed that the proprietor of the first-class hotel in Columbus, Ohio, will be open to keep the company with the night. Best against the wishes of the father and man has been ordered never to come to the Sharp house.

Found in the Room of the Young Girl.

Monrovia, O., July 21.—Armed with a claw hammer, a man named Sharp, on Tuesday, broke open the door of his ten-year-old daughter's room late on Monday afternoon, and made a bloody attack upon 11-year-old Pitts, a young man, who was in the room with the girl.

Monday, however, the father of the girl was away at work and Pitts entered the house. Returning unexpectedly, Sharp found the young man's hat and coat on a chair in the parlor. He armed himself with the hammer, and, going to her room, broke open the door, and before Pitts could offer resistance blow after blow was showered upon him, the cruel claws of the hammer entering the flesh to the bone and then tearing their way out again. In this manner the legs and arms of Pitts were torn in a way horrible to behold.

Finally fleeing himself from the attack Pitts jumped through a window to the ground, some 20 feet below, and made his escape. He was later picked up and taken to a physician's office. He is said to be in a critical condition. No attempt has been made to arrest any of the parties.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. BREWERS' AGENT DIES ABROAD

JOE MILLER, FAMOUS LOBBYIST
SUCCEUMS TO COMPLICATION OF DISEASES.

Had Gone to Germany to Regain His Health, But Grew Worse—He Was Aged 44 Years.

Columbus, July 24.—Joseph A. Miller, legislative agent of the Ohio brewers, died yesterday in the Hotel Kaiserhof, Marienbad, Germany.

Mr. Miller, in company with his wife and Mrs. John Houck, left this country June 16 for Europe in hope that the trip abroad would benefit his failing health, but he grew gradually worse. He suffered from a complication of diseases.

Mr. Miller was secretary of the Brewers' association in Ohio. He formerly resided in this city, but for the last few years had been a resident of Cincinnati, because the headquarters of the association were in that city.

A letter was received by Mrs. William Schenck yesterday morning from Mrs. Miller informing her of the critical condition of her husband and requesting that Mr. Schenck make arrangements for the funeral, as she felt sure that death was near. At 10 o'clock last night, a cablegram announced that death had taken place.

During the last 12 years Mr. Miller had been connected with the brewery interests, lobbying for them with the legislature and attending to his duties as an official of the state organization. He was formerly in the advertising business. Mrs. Miller was formerly Miss Laura Hughes of this city.

The dead lobbyist was born in Covington, Ky. He was 44 years old and an Elk and Mason. In the latter organization he received the Scottish Rite degree and he was a Shriner. He was a member of several clubs including the Cuvier club at Cincinnati.

Representatives of the Hoster Columbus Associated Brewers company likely will go to New York to meet the body and arrange for burial.

THREE FACTS

For Sick Women To Consider

FIRST.—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful periods, displacements of the female organs, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

SECOND.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can.

For thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, curing backache, nervousness, kidney troubles, inflammation of the female organs, weakness and displacements, regulating the periods perfectly and overcoming their pains. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing women for childbirth and the change of life.

THIRD.—The great volume of unfiled and grateful testimonials on use at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women.—Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. From symptoms given, your trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge. Out of the vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Surely, any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 24.—Mrs. Henry S. Lehr and Prof. Alexander Agassiz had large dinner companies Tuesday evening. Mrs. Lehr, as usual, is a prominent figure in the social doings of Newport.

THE ACCIDENTS ON RAILROADS

IN THE UNITED STATES SHOW
AN INCREASE FOR LAST QUARTER.

There Were Nearly 2000 Collisions and Over 1100 Passengers and Employees Killed.

Washington, July 24.—The accident bulletin which has just been issued for the Interstate Commerce Commission for the three months ending June 30, 1906, shows the total number of casualties to passengers and employees to be 18,296 (1,126 killed and 17,170 injured). This is an increase of 17 in the number killed and 53 in the number injured in the preceding three months.

The number of passengers and employees killed in accidents was 274, as against 320 in the preceding three months—a decrease of 46 in the number killed.

The total number of collisions and derailments was 3,490 (1,921 collisions and 1,569 derailments) of which 289 collisions and 167 derailments affected passenger trains. The damage to cars, engines and roadway by these accidents amounts to $2,281,785. There is also a decrease of 232 in the number of collisions and derailments over those reported in the preceding three months.

The number of employees killed in coupling and uncoupling cars and engines was 84, being one less than the number killed in the last quarter.

In closing the bulletin says: The most disastrous accident, a collision causing 30 deaths and injuring 21, was due to the striking failure of the train dispatching system. A telegraph operator at a small and lonely station who had been on duty all day and half of the night fell asleep and on awakening misinformed the train dispatcher as to what had occurred while he was asleep.

It is pertinent to observe that the block system repeatedly advocated by the commission is the true means that ought to be adopted for the prevention of such distressing disasters.

STRANGE BIRDS DISCOVERED

Four Young Fowls of Unknown Variety
Are Found in Woods Near Beardstown, Ill.

Beardstown, Ill., July 24.—Neimann & Hisey have just made a valuable catch in the woods near Camp Hisey, five miles down the river from this city in the shape of four fowls, that being what they are called for the want of a more appropriate name and yet they are not owls, but of the contrary resemble the monkey in every particular, excepting the body and that is like an owl. They are quite young, not being able to fly, of a yellowish color, the face white and the counterpart of an animal, the nose, jaw and forehead as well as under the chin being white encircled by a deep brown ring which extends clear around. The mouth is that of a parrot, the bill being hooked and comes out at the end of the nose. They have ears probably an inch or maybe an inch and a half long, and when disturbed make a sort of whistling noise not like that of any other bird.

They have been seen by a number of people who are familiar with the different species of fowls, but none who have examined them can give them a name, and say that they have never seen anything resembling them before. One man says that there is an owl in the south that they resemble somewhat, but the southern owl has a horn protruding from the forehead which these have not. Their ears are very prominent and stick straight up. They will be photographed and the picture sent off to some scientist in hopes that their species may be discovered. They are about the size of a full-grown chicken.

Big Earnings.
San Francisco, July 24.—Julius Kruttschnitt has had a preliminary statement prepared of the gross receipts of the Southern Pacific company for the fiscal year ending July 30 last, which includes the first two months and a half following the San Francisco fire. The figures show $100,000,000 of gross income, making the Southern Pacific in that respect the second greatest railroad company in the United States. The Pennsylvania comes first. The figures represent an increase of $5,000,000 over the year before and $22,755,049 over the company's gross receipts in 1901.

Friends in the Army.
London, July 24.—M. Allard, former leader of the Group of Toile in the Russian parliament, speaking of the dissolution, said they had plenty of promises from state, army and navy officers to support the demands of parliament for liberty. Converts in the army were more numerous than generally thought. "The emperor," he declared, "is playing a great game which can only end one way—in revolution."

Must Remove Fences.
Omaha, Neb., July 24.—Seven suits were filed in the federal court by District Attorney Goss against ranchmen in the western part of this state to compel them to remove unlawful fences from the public domain. They are alleged to have a total of 233,000 acres illegally inclosed. Several of the defendants are among those now under indictment in connection with alleged land frauds.

Sentence Set Aside.
Detroit, Mich., July 24.—Judge Swan in the United States court set aside the sentence of one year in the house of correction, imposed upon former City Detective Fox Palma after his conviction several months ago on the charge of complicity in extensive fraudulent naturalization of Italians in the local courts, and substituted a fine of $1,000, to be paid by Wednesday night.

MAIL WAGON AS POLICE PATROL

UTICA MAN ARRESTED FOR IN-TOXICATION HAULED TO PRISON IN U. S. WAGON.

Fred Seigle, Bound Over to Grand Jury for Alleged Malicious Destruction of Property.

Police court cases Tuesday morning presented some unusual features to the regular spectators in the court room. There was the man present who slapped the dog in the face. Another had the grave charge of being "drunk on complaint of his mother" placed opposite his name, and another individual who was charged with being drunk, was hauled to the city prison in a mail wagon in the absence of a patrol wagon. Then too, it was necessary for Chief Sheridan to loan a shirt to Crimpy Frazier before that gentleman was sufficiently attired to appear before the mayor. At that he was without any sort of a sky piece.

Carl Wiggin was the first man to be called out and Officers Daily and Swank had charged him with being drunk. He drew $5 and costs which included his transportation to the prison in the mail wagon.

Pole Smith was the plain drunk who was arrested on the complaint of his mother, the absence of commas in the charge on the arrest slip making it appear that the man was committing some grave offense by listening to the complaint of his mother. He was fined $5 and costs for being drunk.

Martin Ishwack a stranger in these parts, imbibed too much liquor and lay himself down on the Shawnee tracks for his night's rest. The police were notified that a dead man was lying along the tracks and found Ishwack—dead drunk. He drew the usual fine and costs. Steve Kloski was in on the same charge and drew $5 and costs.

Crimpy Frazier was dismissed. Crimpy has been in jail since Sunday on the charge of theft preferred by an East Newark woman. When locked up Crimpy was so provoked that he tore all his clothing off and some one had to loan him a pair of overalls, while Chief Sheridan donated a shirt in order that Crimpy be attired properly to come into court. Even at that no he could be found, and when Frazier left the jail he started north on the B. & O. tracks, bareheaded.

Fred Seigle, who is by no means a stranger in Mayor McCleery's court, was in on two charges, both preferred by Peter Ritzer. One affidavit charges Seigle with malicious destruction of property, and the other charges him with making threats against Ritzer. Seigle states that he has been working in the country and came to Newark Monday to get some clothing. While in Newark Seigle got in to difficulties with Ritzer. It seems there was some excitement on South Second street near the Seiler hotel and that Seigle abused a dog belonging to Mr. Seiler.

When Ritzer interposed on behalf of the abused canine, Seigle started after Ritzer, who retreated into his shop. It is stated that Seigle burst the glass in the door and otherwise damaged the property. He is said to have threatened Ritzer's life, but this is denied by Seigle. Seigle waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury under bonds of $100 in each case.

FEAR KIDNAPPING OF NICHOLAS BROWN

New York Criminals Said to be in a Plot to Steal a Ten Million Dollar Baby.

Newport, July 24.—That an attempt is about to be made to kidnap young John Nicholas Brown, "the $10,000,000 baby," is a charge that has caused much excitement here.

Mrs. Brown is on the verge of nervous prostration. Detectives in the employ of the mother of the boy had been watching him for some time, and the youngest and loveliest of his $100,000,000 ransom.

JOHN NICHOLAS BROWN

Mrs. Brown lay down and wept when the secret of the men intimating to her that several of the worst criminals in New York were in Newport planning to seize the child. She ordered her nurse to double, and commanded the detectives to reinforce their numbers with some of the shrewdest detectives in the country. Meanwhile, with one arm in a sling, John Nicholas plays in a barbed wire corral blissfully ignorant that he may become another "lost Charles Ross" at any moment. It is common gossip here that the mother of the youngster has received several threatening letters, which have completely unnerved her. She has been in such a state of collapse over the thought that her son might be captured and held for ransom that the detectives could not comfort her.

"I will spend $100,000 a year to protect John Nicholas from kidnapping, if necessary," she is reported as having said. At night the heir to the Brown millions sleeps behind barred windows in the second story of his home on Hallidon Hill.

The private detectives would not inform newspaper correspondents today what proof they had of a kidnapping plot. They did admit that evidence sufficient to warn the Brown family and justify extra precaution.

MISS SHALEK'S PROBLEM AS A CLIMBER IN THEATRICALS

New York, July 24.—Miss Bertha Shalek thinks she has a claim of $500 against Alfred Arons. Mr. Arons seems to think she hasn't. It appears that when Miss Shalek closed her season in "Happyland" she looked about for an opportunity to climb a bit higher in her profession.

One morning she met Mr. Arons and he vouchsafed the opinion that she would find it difficult to find an en-agement that offered better possibilities than those that the De Wolf Hopper company afforded. Their ideas did not coincide, and in the argument that ensued the manager wagered $500 that the actress wouldn't do better this season.

Later Miss Shalek signed with the Stewart Opera company to sing in "Babette," "Fatinizta," "The Two Roses" and "Dorothy." When she imparted this news to Mr. Arons he did not respond by offering coin of the realm or its equivalent in the amount of the wager, and now Miss Shalek is trying to figure out whether his comparison of the "Happyland" and Stewart companies had anything to do with his reticence or—but no, "His Honor the Mayor" is selling out every night.

Questions Their Sanity.

Seattle, Wash., July 24.—Esther Mitchell and Mrs. Maud Creffield, charged jointly with murder in the first degree for the killing of George Mitchell, were arraigned before Superior Judge Frater, and the latter stated from the bench that he was in favor of a commission being called to examine into the mental conditions of the women and sending them to an insane asylum if they were found to be insane.

Tired of Army Life.

Tacoma, Wash., July 24.—Quarter-master Sergeant Dodds of Company E, Twenty-second Infantry, located at San Francisco, committed suicide at American Lake, where army maneuvers are in progress, by throwing himself into the lake. He left a note to his captain saying he was tired of his job.

SICK MARINES

To Be Sent to Naval Hospitals in New London and New York.

Washington, July 24.—The disposition of the marines who are sick with malaria on board the Columbia has given the navy officers some concern. The officers of the marine corps are anxious to have the men taken off the ship and sent to the stations they occupied previous to going to the Isthmus of Panama, but objections are made by the surgeons to having men from the ship sent to Annapolis and Norfolk, because they may give mosquitoes an opportunity to spread fever in these places. Of the sick, 33 have been taken to the hospital in the Boston navy yard. It is possible that the remainder of the 200 will be sent to New London and New York, if quarters can be arranged for them at these places.

NEW FIRE STATION IN EAST NEWARK

Architect Thebaud Has Prepared the Plans for the New Structure on Gay Street.

An Advocate representative called upon Architect V. Emile Thebaud at his drafting rooms in the Hibbert & Schaus building Tuesday and was shown the plans for the East Newark fire engine house which is to be built soon at a cost of $6500.

The plans which have been prepared by Architect Thebaud provide for a very beautiful and impressive, yet convenient, structure. The new station will be erected at the corner of Gay and East Main streets on the northwest side. The structure will consist of two stories and a basement with a tower, making a height of 45 feet. The basement will be for the heating arrangements. On the first floor will be found the equipments of the company, such as the trucks, telephones and alarm bells. The stables will be in the rear. A bay loft will be shut off from the main structure by a fire-proof wall. A stairway will lead from the basement to the second floor, where will be located the dormitory, baths and lockers.

The new fire station will be of brick and cut stone and when completed will add greatly to the attractive appearance of this part of East Main street.

Steamers in Collision.
Southampton, July 24.—The British steamer Roman put in here damaged and reported having been in collision with the Swedish steamer Talis, which sank. The Roman rescued the passengers and crew of the Talis, and brought them to this port.

New York City has to bear about one-third of the entire fire loss of the United States and Canada. In June its loss was $424,000, as compared with a total of $12,950,650.

ENTER APPEARANCE OF ROCKEFELLER

AND STANDARD OIL MAGNATE WILL NOT BE ARRESTED NEXT SATURDAY.

Prohibitionists in State Convention—From Week on the Erie—Ohio News Briefly Told.

Findlay, O., July 24.—Attorney Troup, of Toledo, arranged yesterday with Judge Banker and Prosecutor David for the appearance of John D. Rockefeller. The papers will be filed when Mr. Rockefeller arrives in Cleveland and signs them.

Findlay, Ohio, July 24.—No attempt will be made to arrest John D. Rockefeller Saturday when he lands in New York. Attorney Troup of Bowling Green, Ohio, representing Mr. Rockefeller, was here and secured permission of Prosecutor David and Probate Judge Banker to enter Rockefeller's appearance in the latter's court, and this was accordingly done. Sheriff Groves still has the warrant, but on account of the turn of events will not attempt to serve it. The warrant was issued recently upon an information filed by Prosecutor David charging Mr. Rockefeller and the Standard Oil company with violation of the Valentine anti-trust law.

Prohibitionist State Convention.
Columbus, O., July 24.—The Prohibitionists of Ohio will hold their state convention in the Board of Trade auditorium here August 1, at 2:30 p. m. The congressional district caucuses will meet at 1:30 p. m., on the same day on the floor of the convention hall, and each will select a candidate for congress, member of the state central committee and members of each of the convention committees. The official call provides for 523 delegates, but the indications are that the attendance this year will be larger than the number of delegates.

Train Ditched.
Ashland, O., July 24.—Passenger train No. 8 on the Erie railroad was wrecked at Burbank, 15 miles east of Ashland. The engine left the track while rounding a curve. All the passengers and mail cars were ditched except the sleeper and dining cars. Fireman J. Robinson of Gallon, was slightly injured. Several passengers received a severe shaking but none was seriously injured.

Changed Its Job.
Mason, O., July 24.—The famous gas well which for a few weeks caused no end of excitement in this vicinity, is no more. A fine stream of limestone water is pouring from the tubing where once the gasser roared, but the owner feels amply repaid. Prospecting for gas and oil is going on, however.

Young Girl Arrested.
Coshocton, July 24.—Helen Hartman, daughter of William Hartman, 15 years old and pretty, is in the city prison with serious charges against her. She was arrested Monday morning after a rigid investigation. She is charged with taking a $20 gold piece from the till of the fruit store maintained by Mary Elum of this city. The alleged offense was committed Saturday. The Hartman girl has worked off and on at the Elums for some time. Saturday evening it was found that $20 was gone from the till and the matter was at once reported to the police. The girl, on account of her connection with the store, was suspected. That evening she appeared on the street wearing a new dress and new shoes.

Chief Maple found where the girl had purchased the new clothes and at one of the stores he was told that she had changed a $20 gold piece.

When arrested the Hartman girl at first denied the charge and said her mother had bought the clothes for her, but when confronted by the evidence she made a confession to Chief Maple.

His Skull Fractured.
New Lexington, O., July 24.—Several foreigners got mixed up in a dispute over a cow at McLuney and as a result Joe Lokach is suffering from a fractured skull. The story goes that John Kovatz hit Lokach in the head with a brick, inflicting a horrible wound, and for a time it was thought that he had killed his victim. Dr. Donnison of Crooksville was summoned to attend the injured man, and up until Monday his life was despaired of. Sheriff Hazelton was notified of the assault and immediately set out and arrested Kovatz and Andy Kardis, the latter also being mixed up in the affair.

The two men were taken before Mayor Stinchcomb last evening and arraigned. They will be given a hearing some time during the week.

The Miners Met.
Cambridge, July 24.—A joint meeting of the coal operators and miners along the B. & O. railroad and also of the Senecaville mines, for the purpose of settling their troubles, was announced to be held in Foresters' hall, Taylor block, Monday morning, but owing to the fact that they had not been notified the meeting was postponed until Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

During the afternoon D. H. Sullivan, state vice president, Louis Lanning, sub-district vice president, and E. P. Miller, sub-district secretary-treasurer, arrived in the city to attend the meeting. For some time the mines along the B. & O. railroad and at Senecaville have been working pending a settlement of their local differences, and it was the purpose to settle definitely all these matters that the joint meeting was called.

Bullet Hit Bystander.
Columbus, July 24.—While Patrolman Hensel was firing at one of two thieves near Spruce and Park streets at 10 o'clock last night, a bullet struck John Monroe, a bystander, in his right leg between the hip and knee. Responsibility for the shooting of Monroe is disputed. The officer asserts none of his bullets hit the man, although he admits firing four shots.

Police Captain Dyer investigated, but could not find anyone last night who would say that the thief or any one of the crowd of onlookers used a gun. Monroe's condition was not deemed serious. He was taken by friends to the office of Dr. A. A. Peasley, at Park and Spruce streets. After considerable probing hope of locating the bullet was abandoned and he was taken to his home at 109 Randolph street. He will probably be taken to a hospital today and subjected to an X-ray examination.

Paid With His Life.
Delaware, July 24.—While endeavoring to board a Hocking Valley freight to steal a ride to Marion, Jas. McEvan, a Big Four machinist, fell under the cars, both legs being severed. He died several hours later at the hospital.

Missionary to Porto Rico.
Dayton, July 24.—Rev. Alvin A. Cober, pastor of Riverdale Baptist church, this city, has resigned his pastorate to take charge of a mission station at San Juan, Porto Rico. He secured the appointment from the Baptist Home Mission Society. He will sail October 1.

Killed by Train.
Marion, July 24.—While engaged in checking up his freight train Monday morning in the local Erie yards. Conductor Peter Anderson whose home is at Huntington, Ind., was struck and instantly killed by a yard engine. The man's head and shoulders were entirely severed from the body just below the arm pits. Anderson was 52 years old and had been in the employ of the Erie road since 1881. His watch had stopped at 8:30 a. m., the exact hour the accident took place. The remains were shipped to Huntington.

Another Military Divorce.
Toledo, July 24.—Charging extreme cruelty in that her husband punched her, Sibyl Moore Carson, wife of Second Lieutenant Clifford C. Carson, of the U. S. A., started divorce proceedings Monday. She is one of the society girls of the city.

Shot at Race Track.
Toledo, O., July 24.—With a probable murder charge staring him in the face Tom B. Tucker Sr., is held at the county jail, while Charles Scherer, his victim, lies dying at the Toledo hospital with a bullet wound supposedly in his lung. The shooting match occurred at the Toledo race track on Monday afternoon and, according to Tucker, it is the outgrowth of continued nagging by Scherer and others who work around the stables.

Tucker is the son of T. B. Tucker, president of the Toledo Exhibition company. The family is very prominent and Tucker Sr. is well known because of his horses. The boy frequents the race track to train the horses. He is a peculiar fellow and his peculiarities have caused much twitting. Scherer, it is alleged, followed him to the track yesterday afternoon and dared him to fight. Tucker immediately pulled a gun and shot him in the breast.
